Former President Truman is dead

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Harry S. Truman died today, conquered finally by the infirmities of age.

The nation's 33rd president died at 8:50 a.m. EST. His wife and daughter were notified at their home.

The hospital attributed death to the "complexity of organic failures causing a collapse of the cardiovascular system.

Truman entered the hospital three weeks ago today and had been in a coma since early Saturday.

As his condition worsened Christmas Day, Truman's daughter, Margaret Truman Daniel, returned from her home in New York. She saw him for about 20 minutes Monday night.

Death came quietly to the former World War II, when he became president. Dr. Wallace Graham, his physician from the White House days, was at his side.

A family spokesman, Randall Jessee, said the 87-year-old Mrs. Truman stood up well to the announcement.

The former president will lie in state for 24 hours, beginning Wednesday at noon EST, in the rotunda of the library that houses the memorabilia of the Truman presidency. Burial will be at 4 p.m. EST Thursday at a spot on the library grounds visible from the window of Truman's long-time office.

Truman had been vice president for only 82 days in the closing days of president on the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

During his eight years in the world's most powerful post, Truman set the United States against global communism, aiding countries that were threatened by the threat of Russian domination.

One of the most momentous acts of his presidency was to order the dropping of the atomic bomb on Hiroshima.

He returned to the solitude of the family home in Independence, spending the first decade after leaving the White House by lecturing on college campuses.

president and was 68 when he left the capital in January 1953.

His death leaves Lyndon B. Johnson as the nation's only living former president. As Truman took office, the Soviet Union already was breaking agreements that had been reached only months before at Yalta in a meeting of the heads of state of the United States, Russia and Great Britain.

It fell to Truman, in the early months, to make what he called his most agonizing decision - whether to use the newly perfected atomic bomb on Japan. Two bombs were dropped at his direction, on the cities of Hiroshima

Board OKs extension of tax deadline

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners, by formal resolution, Tuesday morning granted permission to County Treasurer Harold A. Hise to extend the deadline for payment of 1972 real estate taxes from Dec. 20 to Jan.

The necessity for granting the extension was brought about by a delay in preparing the tax duplicate for the county's taxing districts by the county auditor and the preparation of tax bills by the treasurer's office.

Neither county office knew how to prepare the duplicate and bills until a November Supreme Court decision was made concerning the equalization of property values throughout the state. In effect, the delay has caused both work into two months.

THE TREASURER'S office has employed extra help to prepare the bills to get them out as soon as possible, but the delay will cause property owners to lose their income tax deductions this year on payment of property taxes. It was pointed out that property owners will next year be authorized to include for deduction from their income taxes two years of property taxes.

Treasurer Hise said his staff is geared to ready the tax bills by the second week in January, but he is hoping to have them ready sooner if

The Command did not explain why the bombing halt in the North lasted longer than the cease-fire in the South. Nor would it say whether the attack was resumed on the massive scale employed last week, when the raids were the heaviest of the war.

U.S. officials had indicated earlier that the bombing halt over North Vietnam had been planned for 24 hours and had been extended on an hour-tohour basis while President Nixon awaited some sign from Hanoi that it was ready to agree to his peace terms.

A statement by Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin touched off speculation that he might have been in touch with Nixon. Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported that Kosygin told Ambassador Vo Thuc Dong of North Vietnam that the Soviet government expects immediate termination of the bombing and signing of a cease-fire agreement. But observers in Moscow interpreted Kosygin's remarks as an expression of desire rather than a

The U.S. Command refused all comment on the bombing cessation, which other officials said began before midnight Sunday as part of the allied cease-fire for Christmas.

Radio Hanoi has reported no air attacks after Sunday night but said today that U.S. B52 bombers destroyed the Bac Thai provincial hospital and sanitorium north of Hanoi in "concentrated" bombing raids on Christmas Eve.

The broadcast claimed the towns of Thai Nguyen, Ha Bac and Lang Son also were bombed on Dec. 24, and the raiders "killed and wounded a great many civilians, including Catholic people who were celebrating Christmas services." Lang Son is just below the Chinese border.

Hanoi claimed that it shot down another B52 during the attack on Bac Thai but made no mention of what happened to the six crewmen.

New York 'shorted'

on welfare? NEW YORK (AP) - A citycommissioned study has concluded that the 1970 U.S. census undercounted the number of welfare cases here by 39 per cent, an error which could be costing the city some federal aid funds. Similar miscounts probably occurred in other cities, according to Edward Blum, vice president of the New York City-Rand Institute, which prepared the study that was released Monday.

Blum said a "very crude" estimate was that the city could be losing between $10 million and $40 million each year in federal revenue-sharing as a result of the error. It now gets just over $200 million a year.

Dr. Bernard R. Gifford, president of the institute, said money from other census-based programs sponsored by Model Cities, the Office of Economic Opportunity and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare also could be affected.

The institute, a nonprofit organization that studies city problems, noted in its report the census concluded there were 291,000 welfare cases in New York City in 1969, for which the paid out about $520 million.

The city Department of Social Services, however, recorded some 477,000 welfare cases on its rolls and paid out more than $883 million in that year. The Rand study said the Census Bureau reported its figures without first checking them with the city.

The report concluded that the undercount occurred either because the census takers did not find those on relief because of their mobility or because the people on welfare, perhaps out of embarrassment, failed to report they were on relief.

"It's very likely that this error has happened in other cities," said Blum. There's a good chance that census data are significantly underestimating the number of poor families and poor individuals in the big cities of the country, and as a result they would be short-changed in federal aid.

"We need food for the people," said Gen. Anastasio Somoza, the country's leader. He told foreign nations not to send any more medical supplies, that the supply was sufficient.

The quake Saturday destroyed about 75 per cent of Managua, a city of 300,000, and the toll was estimated at 5,000 to 10,000 dead, with 20,000 injured. Somoza said the country already was suffering from a drought and 250,000 people were unemployed.

Managua was ordered evacuated, and most of the survivors left. Officials said they would cut off relief food supplies to about 25,000 who refused to

Tributes are paid to Truman

By MICHAEL J. SNIFFEN

Associated Press Writer
Political ally and foe alike today hailed Harry S. Truman as a common man who honored the nation with his courage and decisiveness when thrust into the nation's highest office at a time of international peril.

President Nixon said, "Harry S.

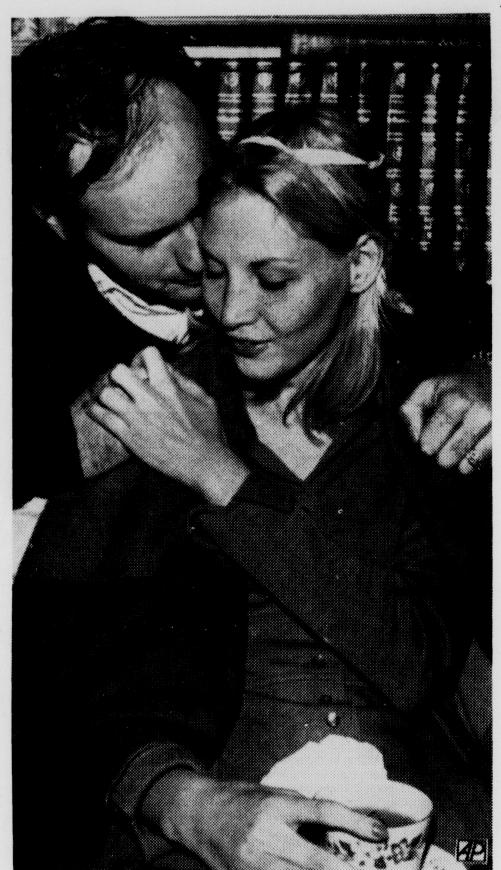

Truman will be remembered as one of the most courageous presidents in our history, who led the nation and the world through a critical period with exceptional vision and determination. Our hopes today for a generation of peace rest in large measure on the firm foundations that he laid."

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said, "Among the talents that Harry Truman brought to the presidency were two indispensible qualities of a great leader — forthrightness and courage. The sign on his desk, "The Buck Stops Here," was no idle boast. But in an office of great power he never lost the humility that endeared him to millions as simply the man from Missouri."

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson said, "A 20th century giant is gone. Few men of any times ever shaped the world as did the man from Independence.

"President Truman presided over the destiny of this country during one of its most turbulent eras. Never flinching in the face of crucial national choices, his decisions changed the course of human events throughout the world."

Nixon silent on Vietnam

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida White House maintained silence on the resumption of U.S. bombing attacks on North Vietnam today after President Nixon waited in vain for a Christmastime peace signal from Hanoi.

A holiday pause in the bombing campaign against North Vietnamese targets above the 20th parallel lasted for 36 hours, although U.S. warplanes limited a Christmas halt to strikes in South Vietnam to 24 hours.

Like the holiday bombing pause itself, the 12-hour extension of the standdown on bombing raids against targets in the North was not announced formally by either the U.S. Command in Saigon or the President, who is spending Christmas at his Florida home home.

Sources in Saigon said the 12-hour extension on strikes in the North had been continued on an hour-to-hour basis because Nixon hoped it would bring an indication from Hanoi that it was ready to resume private peace talks

Henry A. Kissinger's peace negotiations in Paris with Le Duc Tho of North Vietnam broke off two weeks ago, with each side accusing the other of raising new issues to thwart the signing of a cease-fire agreement drafted in October.

Even with the impasse, U.S. officials have said lines of communication remain open between Kissinger and his Communist counterparts. Officials have refused to say, however, whether any recent contact has been made.

Since the peace talks stalemated and Nixon ordered the intensive attacks, Hanoi's spokesmen have said negotiations could not resume as long as the United States was bombing above the 20th parallel.

The White House has refused publicly to link the resumption of bombing—or any pause in the attacks—to the negotiations. In fact, White House spokesmen refused to discuss the bombing at all.

Man flees to west

HOF, Germany (AP) — An East German electrician caught Communist border guards napping early today and rammed his speeding auto through three border barriers on the Berlin-Hof autobahn to escape into 'West Germany, Bavarian police reported.

Not realizing he had already crossed the border, the refugee kept his foot on the gas and shattered another autobahn crossing gate manned by Bavarian border police. The police gave chase to the battered car.

When they caught up with the electrician, his first question was: "Am I in West Germany?" Assured that he was, the refugee gave a sigh of relief.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Light snow began spreading over Ohio this morning, just a day late for a white Christmas, but just in time for testing out new sleds, taboggons and snowmobiles.

The snowfall was not expected to be heavy, but falling temperatures throughout the day should help preserve it.

An artic air mass centered over the northern plains and upper Great Lakes was forecast to spread over Ohio, bringing the chilly temperatures. The cool weather will be especially noticable tonight in western and southwestern counties where clear skies are forecast.

Snow accumulations today were expected to total only an inch or so.
Lows this morning were generally in the 30s, except for a few readings in the low 40s in the southeast. These readings were expected to be the highs for the day.

Mostly cloudy Thursday through Saturday with a chance of showers Thursday and Friday. Highs in the low to mid 40s north and in the upper 40s south Thursday and Friday, dropping to the upper 30s and low 40s Saturday. Overnight lows in the low to mid 30s north and upper 30s to low 40s south.

Quebec with 594,860 square miles is the largest province in Canada.

Proclaim mourning

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon proclaimed Thursday as a national day of mourning for former President Harry S. Truman and directed that flags on all federal buildings and facilities be displayed at half staff for the next 30 days.

The President's proclamation was issued about an hour after Truman's death was announced in Kansas City.

Nixon recommended that "the people assemble on that day in their respective places of worship, there to pay homage to the memory of President Truman..."

"I invite the people of the world who share our grief to join us in this solemn observance," Nixon said.

A White House spokesman said he did not know whether Nixon would go to Independence for the funeral services.

Confirm cannibalism

among survivors

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Official sources confirmed today that survivors of an Andes plane crash had eaten the flesh of dead comrades to avoid starvation during a 69-day ordeal.

The official sources said 16 survivors, either players or boosters of an Uruguayan rugby team, had made a solemn pact that they would not discuss the matter until they returned to Montevideo, Uruguay, and then they would make a collective statement.

Philippines fighting reported

MANILA (AP) — Moslem dissidents reportedly shot down a Philippine air force C47 with a crew of seven during fighting on Christmas Eve in "an increasingly tense situation" in southern Sulu province, the Philippine military said today.

The report, which said the fate of the seven men was still unknown, came as military authorities reported continued fighting between the military and Moslem dissidents, numerous attacks on military units by armed Moslem bands, growing casualty lists on both sides and an increasing refugee problem in the combat areas.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos said in a statement he had evidence that "foreign trained troops" were fighting on the Moslem side, but did not elaborate.

A military spokesman said at least 46 Philippine soldiers have been killed in the fighting since September. This figure did not include the missing air-

Moslem casualties were placed at 92 dead. Unofficial reports reaching Manila from the south gave much higher figures.

The Daily Express, quoting a report by Defense Secretary Juan Ponce Enrile, said there were a half a million refugees in the areas of Mindanao island where the fighting has been go-

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — FBI agents said they arrested a 19-year-old St. Louis area man Monday in an airline extortion attempt when he tried to pick up luggage allegedly containing $30,000.

A TWA spokesman said the call was the third such threat in the past week. He said that in each case the caller demanded the same amount of money be placed in the same spot.

The FBI did not reveal details of the arrest.

A spokesman for the airline said the bomb threat did not divert flights from CALGARY, Canada (AP) - The Salvation Army suicide prevention and emergency counselling bureau handles about 100 telephone calls a month, with most of the calls coming after 11 p.m.

Capt. Noel Sorley says people prefer to talk over the telephone rather than across a desk because there are no barriers between the caller and the listener and callers can remain anonymous.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

On choosing a college

It is startling what adaptability infinetely disruptive human beings possess. Over the years, for example, I have written this column with a rock band, Judy Collins or the score of "Jesus Christ Superstar" thumping away in the background. I have no one to blame but myself: it was my bright idea to give our daughter a hi-fi and she doesn't believe that you can get full fidelity below 75 decibels. We compromised on that, she is three rooms and two doors away, but still there is that pulsating beat

You can get used to it, however. Indeed, last summer when she was away, I had the odd feeling something was wrong. It was a situation reminiscent of the strange behavior of some cousins of mine who lived on a street in Brooklyn with an elevated train line running down the middle. For some weeks after the El was torn down, they would wake up every 45 minutes in the middle of the night and say, "What's that?" when no train went by.

At any rate, I realized that the mood music was missing, the hi-fi wasn't on.

HOWEVER, I'm afraid things have finally gotten out of hand. If this column emerges somewhat more incoherent than usual, attribute it to the fact that our daughter is choosing a college. I never enjoyed that luxury; I went to Hofstra because they gave me full scholarship and I could live at home. But I also missed the anguish, an exercise, that is weird, baffling, and

Part of the problem is that I know to much. The place is littered up with catalogues which she reads microscopically. Now one of the first rules of the game "Choosing a College" should be "Don't believe anything you read in the catalogue." College catalogues are art-forms, not historical data. Take as an example, that favorite statistic, the student-teacher ratio. College A proudly announces a 5-1, College B, a 7-1, with the clear implication that the students are going to work in close relationships with faculty.

Maybe, but you have to take a much closer look. One university that truthfully claimed a 6-1 ration (that is, say, 300 faculty and 1,800 students) did a further study which indicated that 20 per cent of the faculty were teaching roughly 80 per cent of the students.

In other words, you had huge enrollments in certain departments; tiny enrollment in others. The moral is that if your son or daughter is interested in literature, sociology or political science, he or she may never in four years sit in a class with less than 35 or 40 colleagues.

Then there is the inevitable question: "Is Mt. Holyoke better than Bryn Mawr?" Or is Swarthmore "better" than Oberlin, and so on ad infinitum. To this there is — within broad limits — no an educational institution than South Pugwash A. & M., but among the 30 to 40 top private institutions there are no significant educational variations. All have some good departments, all have some bad. But you can get a first-rate education at any of them.

THUS - within this framework the relevant considerations for decision are not primarily educational in nature. Do you want coeducation or not? Do you want to be in a city or out in the country? Do you want to go to a big school or a small one? Do you want to be near the mountains or the ocean? Do you want to go where some friends are? . . . There are sensible elements of choice.

You might think the apprehensive senior would heave a sign of relief at this news, but — as I can testify — it is taken in very bad grace. The high schools seem to have a conspiracy going to keep the kids uptight (instigated by people known as 'guidance counselors'') and they don't want anybody to blow the gig by indicating that if you are in the fortunate position of being accepted by five good colleges a perfectly rational way of deciding would be to draw one name from a hat.

So the rat-race goes on and I am sidelined. As my daughter said, with something of a sneer, 'What do you know about colleges?" And I really haven't got the heart to tell her.

THIS RAISES the question of the Nixon Administration's attitude on conservation. In picking a young, inexperienced White House assistant to be director of the National Park Service, the President broke a long tradition of appointments from the career service.

The new park service director, Ronald H. Walker, a former salesman in California, spent 10 months in Insecretary, Walter J. Hickel, who was subsequently fired by the President. Walker moved over to the White House to take charge of advance arrangements for presidential travel.

THE SIERRA CLUB found the appointment "profoundly disturbing." The fear of Sierra and other conservationist organizations was that politics would intrude increasingly on a service that has had exceptionally high career standards

WASHINGTON (AP) — Predicting environmental health through measurements of coral reef chemistry and biology is the aim of a series of underwater investigations conducted by the Commerce Department's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

Teams of scientists are spending seven days each in a Hydro-Lab, under 50 feet of water off Grand Bahama Island. They will study the coral reef and its creatures. NEW YORK (AP) — Optical experts from Japan say they intend to establish in their country a school like the optical dispenser school operated by New York City Community College.

Prof. Joseph L. Cacotti, coordinator of the program, said Marai told him the school conveniently provides in classes the kind of basic instruction that "our people get bit by bit" in individual training over many years.

About 100 students are in the special two-year program, learning to cut prescription lenses to fit frames and to adjust frames to patients' faces.

Posy Garden Club meets in Schlichter home for party

Mrs. Jess Schlichter opened her home to 14 members of the Posy Garden Club and one guest for the annual holiday party. They were seated at one long table, before a blazing fire, in the lovely old dining room for a bountiful carry-in luncheon. A centerpiece of red and white carnations, pine, holly, red candles and a 10-foot Christmas tree decorated in glass, white doves, silver and gold tinsel, completed the festive setting.

A beautiful Madonna and Child, in silhouette, cut from white and gold paper, mounted on red burlap in an antique gold frame, hung over the mantel. It was created by Mrs. Schlichter.

The living room was tastefully decorated with greens and gold candles in the deep window sills and evergreen and holly grown on the farm.

Mrs. Fred Rivenburgh, president, asked Mrs. Schlichter, Mrs. Dorothy Anshutz and Mrs. Homer Wilson to read from Helen Steiner Rice's Christmas stories.

'Recycled playground' uses cast-off treasure

By LARRY REIBSTEIN Associated Press Writer

HARRISBURG, PA. (AP) - It look more like an abandoned construction company lot than a playground. But don't argue with the kids who use it to them it is a playground.

And don't argue with community officials - to them, it's cheap.

The brainchild of Paul Hogan, a suburban Philadelphia ex-contractor, the "re-cycled playground" relies on the theme that "One man's junk is another man's child's treasure.

Hogan, under a contract with the state, utilizes such "junk" as empty cable spools, logs, concrete pipes, inner tubes, wheel barrows, pulleys and rope. He piles them, inserts them, twists them, carves them, or swings them to come up with playground devices that conspicuously lack the gleaming steel so noticeable in normal playgrounds.

HOGAN has set up about 25 of these playgrounds across the state, several near temporary mobile home parks in flood-battered Wilkes-Barre.

But aside from obtaining the cast-off material, Hogan tries to stay away from actual construction. That's for the children, which is apparently the key to the playground's popularity, as witnessed recently in a demonstration for Gov. Milton Shapp

Asked why he liked the playground, 11-year-old Michael Sanders of Phoenixville, said: "You can build it yourself. You can take it apart and then build it again. It's better to de it yourself. You can do it with your own ideas rather than someone else."

"The philosophy," says Secretary William Wilcox of the Community Affairs Department, "is that process is more important than results. The kids get more out of building playgrounds than just using a facility. It's a way to build creativity. It's better than an antiseptic concrete turtle."

HOGAN, who has nine children notes, "An over-designed, maintenance-free playground is quite often shunned by the children it was made

Today I got a letter from my parents saying they bought a bike for Jeff's birthday! I am not positive, but I feel certain they knew of our deal with Jeff.

If we do let my parents give Jeff thent bike, what about our deal with him? Our pediatrician says not to make tookit much of Jeff's nail biting-it's just a nervous habit, and we should be glad it's not something worse.

Russian-U.S. natural gas deal delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) - Conclusion of a $40 billion, 25-year pact to import Soviet natural gas into the United States will be delayed until the spring while the Nixon administration reviews whether it is needed, The Washington Post said today.

The pact was to have been signed this month.

The Post quoted high administration sources as saying both the government and the six U.S. companies promoting the prospective pact have cooled on the project.

Among the reasons are doubts that Siberian gas reserves are as large as the Russians claim and the refusal of the Soviet government to permit independent testing of the deposits.

In addition, the Post sources said, there were second thoughts about the high cost of the Soviet gas (about $1.50 per 1,000 cubic feet compared to the current U.S. price of 20 cents per 1,000 cubic feet) and about the national security impact of excessive U.S. reliance on Soviet Union gas.

Six American companies announced Nov. 3 they expected to sign an agreement before the end of 1972 on construction of a pipeline from Siberia to Murmansk on the Barents Sea. Another pipeline was to link Siberia with the Pacific Coast.

Natural gas is abundant in the Soviet Union and scarce in the United States, the world's largest consumer of the fuel. The Soviet Union has enough gas reserves to supply the United States for an estimated 30 years.

The administration hasn't ruled out Soviet gas imports, the Post source said, but cheaper gas may be obtained from Nigeria, Venezuela and other

Economist against SST subsidies

WASHINGTON (AP)-Economist Milton Friedman says government subsidies to develop a supersonic transport plane would be a step toward socialism.

Friedman's statement was submitted to the Senate-House Economic Committee in advance of hearings starting Wednesday on whether to revive the SST project.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., committee chairman, said in releasing Friedman's testimony today that his main objection to development of the SST is that "the government has no business paying for a plane that is strictly for commercial use and private Funds for the project were cut off by Congress in a fight led by Proxmire. Friedman said he favors building an SST in the United States "if private enterprise finds it profitable to do so after paying all costs, including any environmental costs imposed by third

"I believe in the free enterprise system," Friedman said. "A governmental decision to produce an SST largely at its own expense is a step toward socialism and away from free enterprise.

Proxmire, agreeing with him, said the taxpayer should not be asked to fund "a plane that will be used by less than 3 per cent of the public and where all the profits would flow to private investors and corporate officers.

Truman's notable 'quotes'

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) - This is how Harry S. Truman expressed himself on a variety of subjects: His religion:

"I'm a Baptist, if that means anything. I've been a member of that church since I was 17, but frankly, all the religion I have is found in the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount. Read them some time if you don't think it is all there.' On politics:

"I've had a lot of mud thrown at me in my years of politics, but none stuck and I never threw any mud back. As president I tried to do what was best for the most people." (Sept. 17, 1953)

On his rise from precinct level to "I am the only one I know of who did that. I am a politician and I don't claim to be anything else.'

On the necessity for strong armed

"I don't like military government. I think it is necessary for the people to be in control. As long as we have a president — a president who is civilian there is no danger of a military dictatorship. As long as the people control the government, there is no need to worry about a dictatorship. (Kansas City, May 16, 1953) On Working:

"It's not hard work that gets a man into trouble. It's the lack of it. When a fellow has nothing to do he gets into devilment." (Jan. 22, 1953)

On Soviet leaders: "They're nothing but a set of damned liars. I wouldn't trust them across the street. They've got 700 million Chinamen who can walk into their back door. They're scared to death and we want to keep them that way." (Las Vegas, Nev., Nov. 11, 1963)

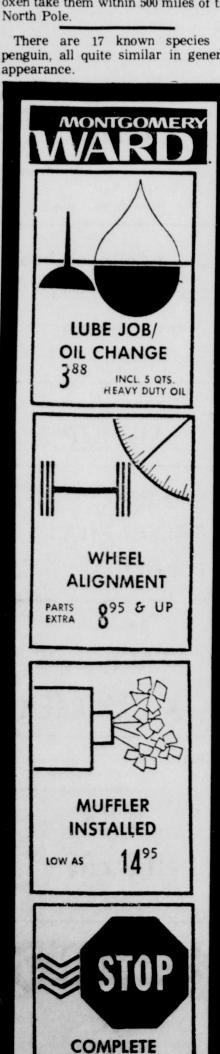

On civil rights demonstrations: "If northern busybodies would stay at home and clean up their own back yards, the rest of the country will obey its laws. These youngsters, who are running around the country trying to initiate mob rule, were raised under the nutty theory of 'let the child grow like a weed with no home discipline.' It is a lazy way to raise a family. These young rioters were not spanked enough as they grew up. The police should be furnished with nice old-fashioned butter paddles and be authorized to use them in the place intended." (Cleveland, Sept. 14, 1963)

On a tax cut, then being proposed: "I am old-fashioned. I believe you should pay in more than you spend." On walking:

"I don't do this for show. I do it because I think it will help me live

Yule buying followed tight year

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - As you peer at the busted toys and broken budgets uptight, hung over and suffering the guilt of financial and sensual excess - take heart. Maybe it isn't all that bad. The year may have culminated in a buying orgy, but it followed months of stern discipline that put retailers to the test. It was a year of consumer selectivity, and a year in which they asserted their rights, options, opinions.

As the consumer analysts say, it isn't just what the consumer has in his pocket that determines how much is sold. Attitude counts too. The consumer isn't entirely predictable. He's wiser; he makes his own decisions.

Check with some resort operators and they'll probably tell you that the days of the free spenders and lavish tippers are over, for the time being anyway. People may have money to spend, but they look at the price tags.

They are, in fact, spending more at resorts and on cruises than ever before. But if you think they aren't demanding more, try counting all the discounts being offered. The one-price days are

It was a good year for automobiles, but if you check you'll find that imports accounted for about 15 per cent of the market, despite the dollar devaluation that put them at a disadvantage.

One explanation being offered is that most of the imports were low-priced editions, and that the big attraction for them remained those relatively low

People clearly are exercising judgment in spending. While personal income rose 4 per cent this year, consumers didn't spend that money

Savings deposits at savings and loan associations soared to $33 billion, a 19 per cent one-year increase in total deposits, capped by a gain of $3.6 billion in December alone - right in the midst of the Christmas selling

But look at what happened to the stock market and mutual funds. Small investors refrained from committing themselves heavily to stocks. Week

Redemptions of mutual funds presented serious problems for that industry, which was built on small investments and too often on big promises. Many once enthusiastic fund investors soured on fund management. In summary, the consumer exercised his will and his judgement many times during the year, even though today he might feel that he succumbed in the final month to an old spending habit. If you are among them, look at it this way: You were entitled to a little indiscriminate spending. And the merchant was entitled to the same.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — wishes, however, and was taken to an ances, pleading ill health. Harry S. Truman was 80 years old and air-conditioned room. beginning to show his age when he finally agreed to quit driving his own

By then, his famous brisk walk had slowed considerably; his memory was no longer as sharp, and he wasn't as Research Hospital again for what Dr. eager as before to get out and see people.

Mrs. Truman and friends of the former president had long been worried about his driving when, not long after his 80th birthday (in 1964), he sideswiped a car, overshot his garage drive and hit a stone wall in the back

He agreed then to let Lt. Mike Westwood of the Independence Police Department do all his driving. Lt. Westwood, who had been assigned to Truman on a part-time basis since his return from the White House, then became the fulltime chauffeur.

Truman had remarkably good health during his lifetime. He often referred to the presidency as a "man-killing job," but entered the hospital only once while he held the office.

That was toward the end of his term. in July 1952, while he was recovering from a mild virus infection. He remained three days in Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, then was pronounced in excellent shape.

On returning to Independence the following year, Truman kept to his regimen of arising early and taking long, brisk walks in the deserted

In the summer of 1954, while attending a performance of "Call Me Madam" at Kansas City's outdoor Starlight Theater, Truman became ill with what first was called acute indigestion.

The next night his physician took him to Research Hospital in Kansas City. The plucky former president refused to ride in an ambulance despite considerable pain, saying, "I don't want all that commotion.

Two and one-half hours later he was wheeled into surgery that lasted nearly three hours. His gall bladder was gangrenous and the appendix was inflamed by fluid seeping from the gall bladder.

Disturbing notes crept into postoperative reports. A week after the operation, enteritis, a form of intestinal inflammation, set in. Despite a heat wave in which temperatures reached 102 degrees, Truman doughtily insisted on staying in a room that faced the sun, saying he was no better than any other

He finally gave in to Mrs. Truman's

Gene Fitzpatric, state highway superintendent for Fayette County, will direct his men on berming projects along Ohio 41 north of Jeffersonville and on Ohio 38, and patching chuckholes in state and federal highways throughout the county.

Local crews also will pick up trash in roadside parks throughout the county, Fitzpatric said.

On the agenda for County Highway Department maintenance crews will be drainage projects on Creek and Palmer roads, trimming low-hanging limbs in numerous places throughout the county and repairing and replacing damaged signs, Charles P. Wagner, county engineer, reports.

Report murder, suicide attempt

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) - A Cincinnati man remained in critical condition at General Hospital today after what police termed a murder-attempted suicide.

Police said that Earl Yocum, 57, apparently killed his wife, Eva, 42, then wounded himself. Police said he used a .38-caliber revolver.

Seaman Don Ziegler, who completed basic training recently at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center, spent his two-week leave with his father, Raymond Ziegler, at Good Hope.

He reported to the San Diego Naval Base Tuesday for assignment to the destroyer USS Towers. Seaman Ziegler attended Miami Trace High School and entered the Navy last Sept. 19.

His physician during that illness was the same man who attended to him in the White House, former Brig. Gen.

Wallace Graham. In January 1963, Truman entered Graham called his annual physical examination. Four days later he underwent a twohour operation to repair a hernia, described as a simple rupture on the right side of the abdomen. He was in the hospital 12 days.

Persons close to Truman said he never regained the robustness that characterized his life.

An arthritic condition in his hip put a noticeable shuffle in his walk. He relied more and more on his cane. One friend remarked: "The only time Harry still walks briskly is when he is in New York and Washington when newsmen are tagging along." Truman's public appearances became fewer. After an hour or so at a banquet table, his face showed fatigue. His health was especially taxed during a round of 80th birthday celebrations that included two major banquets in Kansas City and Independence and two in Washington.

In March 1964, Truman and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson represented the president in Greece at the funeral of King Paul. For months thereafter, Truman canceled scheduled appear-

On Oct. 13, 1964, soon after he had been driven home, Truman tripped over a rug in the bathroom of his home, hitting his head against the tub.

A maid found him, semiconscious, and called police. He was taken to Research Hospital where he was found to have broken two left ribs. He also had a cut over his right eye that required 11 stitches to close.

The night of Feb. 20, 1969 Truman was admitted to a Kansas City hospital with intestinal influenza caused by a virus. Although the then 84-year-old patient argued he was ready to go home after two days, his doctors kept him five days and gave him his first complete physical examination in nearly three years.

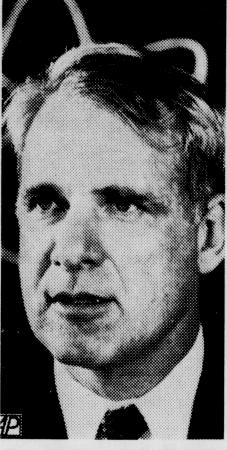

Truman was admitted to Research Hospital Dec. 5, 1972, with pulmonary congestion.

Truman once confided his two-part formula for longevity:

"1. Choose the right grandparents. I did. I come from a long-lived family. "2. Keep those veins in the legs functioning by taking brisk walks, preferably at dawn. Doctors will tell you that otherwise the veins get clogged.' Why, he was asked, did he carry a

Truman explained that the cane was to help him uphill on his dawn patrols and to bop on the head any reporter who asked silly questions.

Year-long evangelistic effort planned by group

NEW YORK (AP) — American conservatives, liberals, moderates and started their most broadly cooperative venture in modern times-to try to strengthen the commitment of this generation to Christ.

The year-long, interdenominational effort, began on Christmas Day with the first of a two-week period of noontime prayers for its success, involves both Roman Catholics and most all of Protestantism.

Pro gridders find Super Bowl road rugged

The road to the Super Bowl now leads through the cities of Washington and Pittsburgh after a couple of sharp

In fact, there was only one smooth ride in the first round of the National Football League playoffs over the holiday weekend.

"We're ready for the Dallas Cowboys," said Washington quarterback Billy Kilmer after directing a 16-3 victory over the Green Bay Packers Sunday in the only playoff game without last-minute drama.

The Cowboys were involved in one of the three Hollywood finishes-beating the San Francisco 49ers 30-28 with two touchdowns in the last two minutes of play on Saturday.

The other survivors who'll play next

Dolphins-also served up a healthy portion of dramatics in their victories.

The Steelers' success was the most spectacular. They won their game against the Oakland Raiders 13-7 on Saturday with a freak pass-deflection play in the last five seconds.

The Dolphins' victory was no freak, though. Earl Morrall directed an 80vard touchdown drive, then Jim Kiick powered over for the winning score from the six with less than five minutes remaining, clinching a nervous 20-14 victory over the Cleveland Browns.

"When the chips were down, we just couldn't stop them,." said Cleveland linebacker Dale Lindsey.

"Everything was laid out in front of

Sunday in the second round—the us with eight minutes to go," said the AFC West, had a 7-6 lead on a late Pittsburgh Steelers and Miami Miami Coach Don Shula. "We had to score a touchdown and we did what we had to do. This exemplifies what we did this year.'

The Dolphins did something this year that no one else did-won 14 games in a row en route to the championship of the American Football Conference East. And they were supposed to be an impossible mission for the Browns, the 'wild card" AFC team.

But the upstart Browns halted the Dolphins' strong running game and even took a 14-13 lead in the second half on Mike Phipps' touchdown pass before Morrall and Kiick took over.

In Pittsburgh, the AFC's Central Division champs appeared beaten by Oakland. The Raiders, champions in could be the last play of the season and 30-yard scramble by Ken Stabler.

But with five seconds remaining and Pittsburgh down to its last chance, quarterback Terry Bradshaw threw a desperation pass that was deflected by receiver John Fuqua and Oakland defender Jack Tatum.

The football floated into the arms of Franco Harris, and the Steelers' rookie took it 42 yards for the game-winning touchdown.

'Unbelievable,' said Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll.

"A miracle sent from heaven—what else can you say?" said Bradshaw. "I guess you could say it was a little bit of luck and God was with us and everything like that," said Harris.

"When you have a feeling that this that you could blow it, then that one more chance pulls it through for you.'

Referee Fred Swearingen had to confer with his associates to confirm the legality of the pass. The Raiders protested that it was illegal, claiming Tatum didn't touch the ball, and instead, it was touched by two offensive receivers.

But the official verdict was 'simultaneous" contact by Fuqua and Tatum, making the ball anybody's property.

Dallas trailed 28-13 with 16 minutes remaining when the NFC's wild-card team came back and beat San Francisco, the NFC West champ. Quarterback Roger Staubach, last year's Super Bowl hero, came off the bench in the last two minutes and threw a pair of TD

"It was the best comeback I've ever seen a Dallas team make," said Cowboy Coach Tom Landry. "We just had to put everything together and we did. You can be in that situation 100 times and probably only win once."

Washington's famed "Over-The-Hill-Gang" defense stopped Green Bay's running attack cold Sunday. The Redskins, winners of the NFC East, never had an anxious moment with the Packers, who won the NFC's Central

In next Sunday's action, the Redskins and Cowboys will contend for the National Football Conference title and the Dolphins and Steelers for the American. The winners meet in Super Bowl VII in Los Angeles on Jan. 14.

That becomes all the more important There is no long winter's nap for four later when the 45th SCOL cage of six teams in the South Central Ohio sweepstakes draws to a close; the more League who will be playing through the rest one can have, the better one can Christmas holiday lull trying to avoid play and plan, something extremely those vigorous and strenuous back-to- vital in this balanced league which has back Fridays and Saturdays as much at least four strong contenders in the weather forced postponement Dec. 15. Miami Trace's Panthers, a perennial toughie and not unfamiliar in leading SCOL basketball races, will entertain the streaking Circleville Tigers in the league's most important contest of the season Friday night.

The game, which was one of two postponed due to hazardous driving conditions, will determine undisputed supremacy in the tight SCOL chase since the two teams which match identical 2-0 league charts.

Wilmington, which has ripped off four straight wins to bolster its bid in the SCOL title bash, will also be in action Friday night when it plays host to the Franklin Wildcats.

BUT BEFORE those Friday engagments, two other SCOL teams will be in action.

Greenfield McClain, which snapped a paintful five-game nosedive with a win over future SCOL member Madison Plains a week ago, will clash with always-tough Frankfort Adena on the Warrior boards Wednesday.

On Thursday, the roller coaster Washington C. H. Blue Lions, who have absorbed three setbacks in their last four games, will be locked in a SCOL struggle with pesky Hillsboro in the Indian gym.

The Lions suffered a bit of Christmas sadness when their old nemesis Portsmouth snapped a three-game home winning streak last Friday night. Head coach Gary Shaffer's crew will be hoping to crack a two-game tailspin when it tangles with the Indians in a game also rescheduled from Dec. 15.

To further complicate matters for enthusiastic Miami Trace taskmaster Jan Stauffer, the Panther smoothies are confronted with a tough weekend twinbill.

AFTER TANGLING with unbeaten Circleville Friday, the Panthers will entertain Madison Plains on Saturday in search of their second triumph against non-league competition.

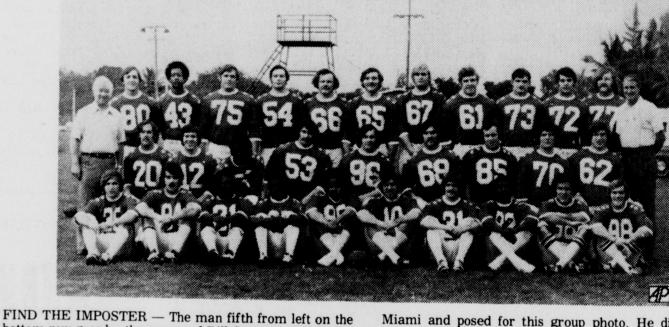

Speaking of non-league competition. the SCOL members have increased their record against outside opponents to a 12-11 level.

The SCOL teams will plunge headlong into the regular league schedule Jan. 5 when Circleville invades Washington C. H., Wilmington entertains Miami Trace and Hillsboro and Greenfield battle for a mythical Highland County champion in the crowded McClain gym.

North wins all-star clash; more questions than ever

MIAMI (AP) — The football all-star games for college seniors are supposed to give the pro scouts an opportunity to evaluate potential draft picks, but the North-South game here Monday night might have provided more questions than answers.

Chuck Foreman, the University of Miami, Fla., running back-flanker who is expected to go early in the draft, was brilliant in the South's 10-17 losing scoring on a two-yard touchdown run cause as he gained 83 net yards in 22 which enabled the North to tie the score carries and caught four passes for 60 at 10-10 in the fourth quarter.

Warfield not fooled by Browns

MIAMI (AP) — "They came in here trying to lull us to sleep, saying they were just happy to be here, all that," said Miami Dolphins wide receiver Paul Warfield after the Dolphins captured a 20-14 playoff victory over the Cleveland Browns Sunday.

'Well, back in 1964, when I was with the Browns and we played Baltimore for the world championship, we were in the same position as the Browns were today," continued Warfield. "All we heard all week was how great the Colts were. And we laid it on them 27-0."

It was a 35-yard pass reception by Warfield that got the Dolphins to the Cleveland 20-yard line after the Browns had taken a 14-13 lead in the fourth

And it was Warfield who drew an interference call on Browns linebacker Billy Andrews at the eight two plays later. On the next play, Jim Kiick ran through a huge hole opened up by right tackle Norm Evans and left guard Bob Kuechenberg for the winning score.

The Browns appeared on the verge of going in for another score with 1:15 left in the game when quarterback Mike Phipps led them to the Miami 35 only to suffer his fifth interception of the COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - The Dayton Gems came from behind a 4-3 deficit at the end of the second period and defeated the Columbus Golden Seals 8-5 in Monday night International Hockey League action.

The Gems leading scorer was defenseman Lorne Weighill with two UCLA easily tops cage ratings

Foreman, chosen the South's most valuable player, also made two critical fourth quarter fumbles. That's something that could dull his pro rating since he had his fumble troubles throughout the past season.

Rufus "Roadrunner" Ferguson, the 5-foot-6 Wisconsin star who is trying to prove he can play with the big guys, was picked the North's top player after

But Ferguson had only 55 net yards in 21 carries, an average of 2.6 yards a try, and left doubts about his ability to block onrushing linemen.

Arkansas quarterback Joe Ferguson kept the Rebels alive with his passing effort-17 of 33 for 205 yards and an 18yard strike to flanker David Knight of William and Mary for the South's lone

But Ferguson was also the victim of four interceptions. The Rebels' other quarterback, John Madeya of Louisville, hit only five of 16 passes for 43 yards and was intercepted once.

North passers didn't fare much better. Gary Danielson, hoping to follow in the footsteps of former Purdue quarterbacks such as Kansas City's Len Dawson, Cleveland's Mike Phipps and Miami's Len Dawson, completed only two of 13 passes for 37 yards. Temple's Doug Shobert was successful on nine of 11 tries for 105 yards, but his two misses were both interceptions

Sarkkinen lists greats

PASADENA (AP)—Three teams pop into Esco Sarkkinen's mind when the Ohio State scout of nearly three decades thinks of the greatest college football squads he's seen.

Sarkkinen, just completing his 27th season with the Buckeyes, prefers to think of eras rather than teams when he talks about the great ones.

"I would say the 1947-48 Michigan team, Michigan State of the mid-60s and the three Ohio State teams of Rex Kern and company," said Sarkkinen.

He refuses to put top-ranked Southern California which plays Ohio

State in the Rose Bowl New Year's day, in the same class for one reason.

"This has to rank with John McKay's finest, but it's only for one season, not two or three years, like those others," he explained.

Sarkkinen looked at his top three years a little more while relaxing in the team's hotel headquarters on an off day- Christmas.

Americans remembered him best for his plain-spoken, direct manner of speaking — a trait he attributed to his Missouri ancestors.

With the end of World War II, that facet of his personality was brought into play often, as the nation reconverted from a war economy to peace. He used the powers of the presidency to the fullest, to stop strikes that he believed were against the national interest Jessee told newsmen after the announcement of death that Mrs. Truman's "loyalty and devotion were fabulous. The vigil was a very trying thing for her physically.'

The former president will be buried in the courtyard of the library, an imposing limestone structure less than a mile from his home.

Mrs. Daniel, the Trumans' only child, returned to Kansas City Monday night from her New York home. She had been here earlier during her father's illness, but she had gone home to be with her family.

Truman was president in a turbulent period for the nation: the end of World War II, the domestic turmoil that accompanied return to peace, and the evolution of the cold war with Russia.

He was a blunt, outspoken Democrat who rose through a powerful, corrupt political machine from county judge to senator, becoming vice president in Franklin D. Roosevelt's fourth term. When Roosevelt died on April 12, 1945, Truman-in office only 82 days-was sworn in as the nation's 33rd president.

He served nearly two full terms, then returned home to Independence in 1953, spurning what he called "fantastic offers to lend my name to this cause or

For more than a decade thereafter he devoted his time to writing, some lecturing and a television series, and to the Harry S. Truman Library which houses his papers and memorabilia.

But the infirmities of age finally took their toll of a man whose life had been one of great vigor and ebullient good health. After a tiring round of 80th birthday parties in 1964 he suffered a bathroom fall—probably occasioned by a small stroke-and his public appearances became a trickle.

In 1966, appearing thin and feeble, Truman gave up his daily visits to his office in the Truman Library, six blocks from his home. He cut down on the number and length of his traditional crack-of-dawn walks, and finally abandoned them altogether.

Yet Truman was no recluse. He took drives almost daily with his wife Bess—to the grocery store, post office or the public library—content to wait in the car while she went about errands. Mrs. Truman, whom he married in 1919, was only nine months younger than he.

His was a graceful transition from the mightiest office in the free world to the life of "Mr. Citizen," as he titled the first of his three books.

"I don't want to hang around Washington trying to tell the next man what to do," he said. He maintained to his death a policy of not commenting on any matter concerning foreign affairs. Visitors to the century-old Truman home were restricted to a few close friends. He continued to receive visiting dignitaries, however, including the men who succeeded him as president.

Truman made one of his rare, lateryears trips to the Truman Library on March 21, 1969, when President Nixon presented him with the piano he had played in the White House.

Nixon and his wife also visited privately with Truman, then nearing his 85th birthday. "We discussed East-West relations," Nixon later told reporters. "I found Mr. Truman to be up on everything.

president, was a frequent visitor to the home and the Truman Library. "I always come away having learned something," Johnson said after one

Johnson made a special visit to the library to sign the Medicare bill—a tribute to Truman, who had been president when the legislation was inaugurated.

Dwight D. Eisenhower toured the library after his presidency—a cordial meeting between the two men who had become enemies during the 1952 presidential campaign.

One life-long habit Truman did not give up in his old age was that of reading. His personal library was stacked with books—particularly on his favorite subject, history-and Mrs. Truman and friends continued to provide him with additional reading matter.

Since leaving the White House, Truman had been hospitalized for gall bladder removal, a hernia operation and several times for abdominal trouble. His physical ailments took their toll. From a presidential 180, his weight dropped to less than 140, making him appear painfully frail. But his illnesses had no effect on his mind; friends said he remained mentally Truman was 60 years old when he became president. World War II was in its final stages, but relations between this country and the Soviet Unionwartime allies-already were falling into distrust. More than anything else. the fight against the worldwide spread of communism occupied the Truman administration.

Truman's foreign policy was aimed at rehabilitating wartorn countries and checking Communist encroachments at the same time. For the former he instituted a number of selfhelp programs such as the Truman Doctrine and the Marshall Plan.

His most decisive action toward halting the advance of communism was to send U.S. troops into Korea in 1950 to repulse the Communist-led North Koreans who crossed the 38th parallel into South Korea. Another time he thwarted the Russians by airlifting supplies into Berlin for 14 months, bypassing a Communist blockade.

It fell to Truman to order the first wartime use of the atomic bomb, three months after he took office-yet he did not even know of its development until he was sworn in. The bomb drop on the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Truman said later, saved one million American and one-half million British lives. He had announced Germany's surrender May 8, 1945—his 61st birthday.

At home, Truman was occupied with reconverting a wartime nation to peace. There were strikes in one critical industry after another. With relaxed price controls, the costs of goods, services and housing rocketed.

Truman ran into a balky Congress with nearly every piece of major legislation. He referred to the 1947-48 Republican-dominated assemblage as the "do-nothing 80th Congress" and used that as his battle cry when he stumped the country for election in the fall of 1948.

He upset all predictions by defeating Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican candidate, by more than two million Truman, descended from pioneer Lyndon B. Johnson, when he was stock with Southern sympathies, worked on his parents' farm near Grandview, Mo., from 1906 to 1917 after trying a variety of jobs in nearby Kansas City-as bank clerk, railroad timekeeper, drugstore clerk.

Despite weak eyes, he went into the Army as a lieutenant, fought with distinction in France and returned home a major. He commanded Battery D of the 129th Field Artillery, 35th Infantry Division, and his men-mostly from the Kansas City area-called him

'Captain Harry.' He failed as a partner in a haberdashery business. But through an Army friend who was the nephew of Missouri political boss Tom Pendergast, Truman was elected a county judge—an administrative position akin to a county commissioner. Two years later, in 1924, Truman was defeated for reelection—the only time he ever lost a political contest.

In 1926 and again in 1930, Trumanwith backing from Pendergast's crooked political machine—was elected presiding judge of the threeman county court. In 1934, Pendergast flexed his political muscles by running the relatively unknown Truman for the U.S. Senate and Truman won against overwhelming odds.

Truman, always an ardent Democrat, voted for nearly every New Deal measure put forth by the Roosevelt administration.

Pendergast was in jail in 1940 when Truman ran for re-election and won with a slim margin. He initiated and headed a select Senate committee investigating the war effort and his work brought him national prominence.

Roosevelt, already ailing, chose him for his fourth-term running mate and they won handily.

In her recently released biography of her father, Margaret Truman Daniel said Truman fought against his own nomination as vice president in 1944 because he knew Roosevelt was a sick man, and Truman didn't want to go into the White House "through the back

Margaret said Roosevelt's illness was on her father's mind when he remarked to a reporter: "Do you recall what happened to most vice presidents who succeeded to the presidency? Usually, they were ridiculed in office, had their hearts broken, lost any vestige of respect they had had before. I don't want that to happen to me."

Less than three months after the inauguration, Roosevelt died at Warm Springs, Ga., of a brain hemorrhage and the Man from Missouri became president.

In her book, Margaret says that Winston Churchill visited Washington in 1953, days before Truman left office. and remarked to him: "You, more than any other man, have saved Western civilization.

Atlas, who claimed he sold his "dynamic tension" body building correspondence course to more than seven million customers, died Saturday in Long Beach at the age of 80.

Selected as the "World's Most Perfectly Developed Man" in 1922 and 1923, Atlas still boasted a 17-inch neck, a 47-inch chest, a 34-inch waist and 15%-inch biceps nearly 50 years later.

28 dead on Ohio highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As the three-day Christmas weekend came to a close at midnight Monday the Ohio Highway Patrol reported 28 persons had died on the state's roads during the period.

The state Highway Safety Department had predicted that 28 would die on the highways over the weekend that began at 6 p.m. Friday. Last year, 26 lost their lives on Ohio roads during the holiday weekend.

Among those who died were four men who were axphyxiated—in two separate incidents-when their cars pulled to the side of the road. The deaths:

Personalized auto license tags undergo boom in Ohio

Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Personalized license tags are becoming as popular as bumper stickers on Ohio automobiles.

"Besides the usual requests for the TOMs, DONs and SUEs, we also get the NUTs, DUDs and FATs," said C. John Curry, registrar for the state bureau of motor vehicles

Before the Jan. 1 deadline, Curry expects new requests for special threeletter combination tags to exceed

The bureau can only fill about 115,000 of the requests.

"Some of our special tags date back to 1908, when Ohio first started licensing vehicles," Curry explained. "We can't start giving out combinations which have been reserved for years."

Fees for the monogramed plates should bring in $575,000 this year—to be divided among local and county taxing districts. Cost is $5 plus $15.50 per tag in some counties, and $5 plus $20.50 in

"We like to see the requests come in," said Curry. "We make a little money and the tag gives a car a little personality. 'Law enforcement likes it, too. It's easier to remember a cute or unusual tag than a long six-digit number." Letter combinations are limited only by the alphabet, imagination, and "We don't issue combinations which begin or end in either 'I' or 'O'. It's too confusing," Curry explained. Ohio's emerald green 1973 tags will boast two national "firsts"—a safety slogan instead of a state slogan, and a special wheel chair insignia for disabled veterans.

Cars are flooding Ohio roadways at the rate of 350,000 per year. The Bureau is considering increasing tag call letters from three to six, increasing the uses-and the abuses-of the personalized tags.

"We don't issue any KKKs or GODs, and we even restrict the use of USA, Curry said. "Other than that, there aren't too many four-letter words you can make with three letters.'

The coveted "1" license tag every year goes to the winner of the transportation department's safety slogan contest. The 1973 contest opens in Feb-

"If you get hit with all four kinds of loneliness at once, watch out," Sadler tells the group. The cumulative result can be rage, collapse or suicide.

SADLER, a 41-year-old sociology professor at Bates, considers loneliness a subtle and dangerous social disease that has been evaded and misundesirable - wealth. Just as money buys our anonymous motels, singleroom dormitories and private automobiles - in short, privacy - it also buys loneliness, he says. All too often, Sadler says, that wealth other persons in a darkened classroom has brought us away from nature, that isolation being a part of cosmic loneliness. "Note how the girl in Andrew Wyeth's "Christina's World" is depicted as somehow remote from the field she lies in," Sadler says pointing to the picture flashed on the screen behind him. "And see how a similar situation is treated by a French impressionist painter in a diffent, perhaps less lonely culture. Claude Monet's girl is painted as a part of, almost mering with, the field and flowers around her.

"Certainly cultural loneliness stems in part from America's trend to nuclear families of parents and children and the lack of communal meeting places," Sadler says returning to his lectern. Cultural estrangement also stems from the dehumanizing process of working in an automates of working in an automated and industrialized society. Sadler turns his head to a 18th woman's communion with her sewing. Then he points to the white plaster figure by American George Segal the man stands before a machine. He

"GOING to hell in a group" captures Sadler's notion of America's "herd mentality," which contributes to social loneliness. This kind of estrangement is characterized by a feeling of individual impotence when confronted with all the red tape in a bureaucratic sysem. A

The sociologist has been trying to hel the lonely widow discover the dimensions of the disease that plagues her. She must realize that her malaise is, in a sense, incurable simply because it is "human to be lonely." But she also must realize, Sadler submits, that identying her problem is the first step to "coping wit it creatively."

Speaking of Your Health.

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

All through college I was irritable. fretful, and often even aggressive. I was labeled a "nut."

I was sent to the school psychologist, and later to a psychiatrist. They gave me a great deal of insight into my problems and made it possible for me to live with myself and with others.

It was not until I returned home to a small, mid-Western community that our family doctor found that there was a physical basis for my behavior

Do you think that this is often overlooked when people behave as I did? Miss G.F., Ill

Dear Miss F .: Your frank and forthright letter highlights a few areas in medicine that deserve elaboration. Again, I would like to point out that the family physician forms the concrete support of the total structure of modern medicine. It is often he who unravels the physical, the psychological, and the social aspects of illness and evaluates them. When there is a need for more intensive investigation he seeks the opinion of a specialist in a more concentrated field of medicine. After all findings are laid out, the blueprint of these studies very often provides the answer, as in your case, to a complex problem.

The concept of psychosomatic disease has rightfully flourished in the past 50 years. It is now accepted that all physical problems have some associated emotional overtones. This is the basis for psychosomatic understanding. The mind (psyche) and the soma (body) are one. They are completely intertwined in good health and in illness.

Similarly, there is a somato-psychic involvement where the body functions affect the mind and behavior patterns. This is what may have occurred to you. Hidden endocrine or hormone disturbances can produce abnormal behavior patterns.

For years it has been known that an overactive thyroid, for example, can produce restlessness, irritability, insomnia, palpitations, and even cause behavioral aberrations. Fatigue, restlessness, poor attention spans, and explosive anger are not uncommon with this condition.

Similarly, disorders of the adrenalin gland are known to have been the cause of so-called "paranoid" and even "psychotic" behavior.

Low blodd sugar, mineral defiencies have been found to explain so-called "delusional" episodes that mark a person as socially inadequate.

One of the most famous cases in American medicine was actually uncovered in an insane asylum by Dr. Harvey Cushing. Since then, "Cushing's Disease," which is a physical disorder that affects the adrenal gland, is known to be responsible for severe depression, and even mania, in addition to the physical symptoms.

Before anyone is labeled as a strange, neurotic personality every conceivable test must be made to be sure that a physical disorder is not the real culprit.

Set Pennsy crew slash

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A federal judge has paved the way for Penn Central, America's largest and most financially-pressed railroad, to eliminate at least one man from each of its 5,700 train crews.

The railroad, now being reorganized under federal bankruptcy laws in U.S. District Court, has said it would save $90 million annually in labor costs by such a move. It is more than $200 million in the red this year.

In giving Penn Central permission Friday to reduce the crews, however, U.S. District Court Judge John P. Fullan ordered it to continue negotiating with the United Transportation Union on the longsmoldering "featherbedding" issue. He said the reduction must be put into effect within 30 days if the two parties can reach no other agreement.

Presently, each train must carry a conductor and two brakemen in its nonlocomotive section. Penn Central wants to trim at least one man, and sometimes two, from the crews, depending on train size and requirements.

not entirely eliminated - because other factors sometimes enter the picture.

Thus, the succession of opponents you meet may, or may not, play well against you — and this can have an important bearing on how you fare. Also, you may get to fine contracts that go down because of horrendous distribution, or get to poor contracts and make them because of exceptionally favorable distribution.

Consider this deal played in the Blue Ribbon pair championship. My partner (Mrs. Dorothy Hayden) and I got to game on the bidding shown. Her three notrump bid th the singleton king of clubs was certainly imaginative, and was moreover amply rewarded when she made the contract after West led a

Mrs. Hayden won the queen with the king and ran six diamonds, placing West under severe stress. He followed twice and discarded a heart and a spade, but then, in order to protect his king of spades, discarded two clubs.

Now Mrs. Hayden played a heart. West took the ace and cashed three clubs, but that was the end of the line. He had to yield the last two tricks and Mrs. Hayden thus made three notrump.

You could call the hand a brilliant success, if you were so minded - but, all the same, there was a lot of luck attached to it.

Thus, at a different table, against similar bidding, West made the inspired lead of the ace of clubs against three notrump, East-West scoring the first seven tricks to put the contract down three.

Fortunately for Mrs. Hayden and me, we were sitting at the right table.

Teamsters, ILWU planning merger

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Officials of the 55,000-member International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the two-million-member Teamsters Union have reached tentative agreement on merging the two powerful labor organizations, the ILWU says.

An official statement in the West Coast longshore union newspaper Dispatcher said Friday that a memorandum of agreement on merger terms was drafted in Washington between ILWU President Harry Bridges and two top Teamster officials.

However, a Teamster official declined to predict when or if a merger might occur. He said the agreement's language needs further refinement.

dividuals and organizations throughout the nation for advice on how to organize groups to protest discrimination and work for equality in credit.

One of the requests came from the Atlanta YWCA, which plans an extensive investigation of credit practices in Atlanta and eventually a permanent task force on credit.

The Dallas chapter of WEAL just completed an investigation of Dallas creditors and will urge stores and banks to make credit policy changes as a result.

Most creditors insist they do not deliberately discriminate and their only criterion for extending credit is the ability of the applicant to pay.

Retailers say it's more convenient and less costly for them to have a married woman's account in her John L. Lugenbeel, 1120 N. North St., husband's name. Lenders say they're wary of counting a wife's income for loans because she may quit her job, in many cases to have a baby

There are signs that the protests are having some effect.

A sub-council on credit for the Mrs. Harold Dundon, New Holland, National Business Council for Consumer Affairs acknowledged last month in its report:

> "Discrimination against women in credit granting systems can be subtle. but serious, as shown in recent hearings on the subject by the National Commission on Consumer Finance.'

> The council recommended that "consumer credit granting criteria should be the same for men and women. When they meet these criteria, married women who so request should be granted credit in their own name."

> Members of the sub-council included top officials of J.C. Penney's, American Express, Household Finance Corp., First National City Bank and Bank of America.

> John E. Patterson, credit manager for Franklin Simon, a New York clothing store chain, said retailers are beginning to "show an awareness of their lack of recognition of women in > the granting of credit.' "Many major stores have already changed their policies toward women," Patterson said. "They have to—in order to compete. It's a simple matter of dollars and cents. We need the business of women.'

> Franklin Simon, like a number of other stores across the nation, recently changed its application form to one that uses the terms "applicant" and 'spouse," allowing for use by either sex, rather than asking for information on husband and wife.

> Gilchrist department store in Boston recently issued a special Ms. application blank for women who want a card based strictly on their own credit ratings. There are no questions about > spouse or husband. BankAmericard is contacting women working in the area of credit for advice in drawing up new guidelines for member banks in granting credit to > women. "It's a plain and simple fact of life that women are excellent credit risks,' said Charles Hayward, vice president of First National City Bank in New York, who says his bank treats men and women equally in granting loans.
